

Historically the UA Lands office earns revenue from the university's existing acreage that includes real estate, timber sales, mining, gravel sales and other activities. Income from UA's lands has funded the highly successful UA Scholars